Art Unit: 1614

Priority Claim

Applicant is requested to amend the first line of the specification to recite claims to priority to the four United States continuation application parent cases.

Indefiniteness Rejection

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The term "substantially free" as used throughout the claims is a "term of degree" for which the specification provides no guidance. The term is not defined and no representative values are provided, so it is not clear how much undesired isomer a given prior art composition may contain and yet still fall within the scope of the claimed term.

Obviousness Rejection

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 1614

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Husbands et al (USP 4,535,186).

In general, stereoisomers/optical isomers are obvious from racemic mixtures. As legal authority the examiner cites In re Adamson and Duffin, 125 U.S.P.Q. 233 (CCPA 1960). The case sets forth the requirements of patentability with regard to stereoisomers as follows:

1) The existence of a racemate is, in and of itself, sufficient to render obvious any individual stereoisomers contained within; no express suggestion of isomer separation is needed. See the first paragraph on page 235.

2) One skilled in the art expects that individual stereoisomers will differ significantly in physiological/pharmacological activity and toxicity, because living systems are chiral and thus preferentially process certain stereochemical configurations over others. See page 234, the third full paragraph and page 235, the fifth full paragraph on the page.

Art Unit: 1614

Racemic N-desmethyl venlafaxine, a.k.a. 1-[1-(4-methoxyphenyl)-2-(methylamino)ethyl]cyclohexanol, is known from working example 12 of USP 4,535,186; it and related compounds are taught to be useful for preparing pharmaceutical compositions for the treatment of depression (see the abstract). Consonant with the reasoning of Adamson, the existence of that racemate renders obvious any individual stereoisomers contained within, i.e. the R and S enantiomers recited instantly. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to have prepared and used the separate isomers, motivated by such sound technical and legal reasoning.

Action is Final

This is a continuation of applicant's earlier Application No. 10/419,646. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the earlier application and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the earlier application. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action in this case. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no, however, event will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
